Politics of High-Performance Façades:
Insights From $250 Million Red Deer Justice Centre

Presented by Peter Dushenski
Managing Director of GlasCurtain

What are the big drivers of façade performance in our ever-changing political climate? How do political forces shape our government's infrastructure investments to make some public buildings higher-performance than others? What can we expect from public building façade investments in the future? Join us for this exciting presentation showcasing one of Canada's newest court houses: Red Deer Justice Centre!

Peter Dushenski is the Managing Director of GlasCurtain, a 100% Canadian-owned and operated curtain wall manufacturer that specializes in fibreglass-framed systems.

Peter joined the company in 2013 just before the commercial product launch at Greenbuild 2013 in Philadelphia. Since then he's lead the company to several industry firsts including the highest thermally performing curtain wall in the world based on Passive House (PHI) certification - rated to 0.60 W/m2K. Peter has previously been invited to speak at the Canada-EU Green Building Forum in Brussels, Belgium, at Ecobuild in London, UK, at Canada Green Building Council (CaGBC) National Conference, at Construction Specifications Canada (CSC) National Conference, at BUILDEX Vancouver, and BUILDEX Alberta.

Peter lives in Edmonton, is happily married and the proud father of two little boys.
