Happy New Years Messages and Wishes for a Wonderful 2023

*Jeff Halashewski RSW; CSC London | Director

“Nights will be dark but days will be light, wishing your life to be always bright. Have a happy New Year!”

As it is the beginning of the year..... how many “happy new years” emails have you received already ... Now, how many will you receive in the next 2 weeks? And when is the actual cut-off to wish someone a happy new year.

Personally, I like to getting all the email messages they mostly do not bother me at all and in most cases I will follow-up with a reciprocating message and sometime an invite out for a lunch or coffee within that week or next.

Myself, I do send out maybe a good 30 to 50 Happy New Year messages by email mostly to close friends in the industry, I limit acquaintances to the ones I would like to get to know more on a personal level. As for a cold call email messages for myself pretty inappropriate unless I am asking for information from a new manufacturer on the goods and services offered.

The cut-off for Happy New Year messages should be mid-January. I think most people would agree but there will be some who say after the first week of January would be good as we all know we are already over run by emails

To end this I would like to provide you with a list of the different kinds of messages you could receive or send this year.

If you would like to provide a comment to this editorial send to London@csc-dcc.ca.
